Business District Makeovers and Streetscape Improvements

New paint and signs have renewed the appearance on more than one building in the business district. Along with the new WCDC signs and lights, KFC remodeled their building and Salvatore's improved their exterior over the summer. It's amazing what a new coat of paint can do for a building and private investment such as this has a big impact on making Wilkinsburg more beautiful! Several businesses have applied for façade improvement funding and more are preparing applications. If you'd like to learn more about fixing up the appearance of your business, join us at our monthly design committee meetings. Our next one is November 17th at 6pm at the WCDC office, 1001 Wood Street.

And in the spirit of remodeling, the WCDC is proud to have raised funding to support streetscape improvements in the business district. This summer we refurbished the lampposts and bought new globes, hung decorative banners and pruned the honey locusts on Wood Street. Another round of litter receptacles will be installed this fall.

It's a good start, but there's lots more to do. We're only halfway to our goal of replacing litter receptacles. We'll be updating our street signs, planting new street trees and continuing to improve our streetscape fixtures and green spaces as part of our design goals.

If you like what you've seen so far, you can help keep it going! Make a contribution to the WCDC online, by mail or stop by our office and visit us in person.
